Yes – that sounds like a good plan. I have a mentor/mentee training event so will miss as well, but I'll pass along the info in an email and will let them know we will not be in attendance.

Thanks Sarah: would it be ok if I passed on the 11 am WD LT so I can stay on top of DB and try and complete some other tasks prior to taking leave tomorrow?

In my absence, you can remind Bert/Darcy that we are co-hosting our annual R8 state/tribal UIC Directors meeting virtually next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Douglas

Good morning: here is what I plan to provide Darcy later today as an email template for outreach to all 38 tribal leaders. Let me know if you any edits, etc. The website address will be updated for easy access to the RTC and other permit related documents. Thanks! Douglas

Dear President/Chairperson (insert surname):

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is providing you the enclosed letter documenting the conclusion of EPA's consultation efforts with your tribe concerning two Underground Injection Control (UIC) Area Permit Applications for the Dewey-Burdock uranium in-situ recovery site located near Edgemont, South Dakota, under the authority of the Safe Drinking Water Act and UIC program regulations. The Dewey-Burdock site is located in southwestern Custer County and northwestern Fall River County, on the Wyoming/South Dakota border.

Concurrently, we are notifying you of EPA's decision to issue final UIC Permits for this project. Consistent with EPA's Policy on Consultation and Coordination with Indian Tribes, we are also enclosing EPA's Response to Comments (RTC) document which describes how all tribal government input received during consultation and/or EPA's 2017 and 2019 public comment periods, were considered in EPA's final Permit decisions. You can also find EPA's RTC and other permit related documents on our EPA Regional UIC website at: <http://www.epa.gov/uic/underground-injection-control-epa-region-8-co-mt-nd-sd-ut-and-wy>. You may also access these documents as part of EPA's Administrative Record for these UIC Permit actions online at regulations.gov under docket number EPA-R08-OW-2019-0512.

Sincerely,
